MANAGING COSMETIC INJECTABLES COMPLICATIONS.

Whether minor or serious, an injectable related complication is stressful for both you and the client. Such a complication, especially a major one can really knock your confidence and affect your future as an injector. However even the most experienced injector will experience some type of complication during their career.

We have designed this unique course to equip you with the knowledge and skills to recognise, prevent and treat the different types of aesthetic related complications.

We provide in depth content which covers minor and major injectable complications related to both botulinum toxin and dermal filler.

It will also provide some insight and information into how to deal with difficult clients including how to say "no" to treatment.

This course is suited for injectors of all skill levels and is 100% online and self-paced.
